UPDATES & INFORMATION

WHAT'S NEW?

Over the summer, Bray Architects hosted user group input sessions to review plans for the addition and renovation spaces. These sessions allowed staff to view and provide input on the project.

In August, Bray Architects completed the project's Design Development phase, issuing a document set of renderings and plans to the project team. Check out a few of the renderings below and on the next page.

PLANNING & DESIGN UPDATE

At the August 23 community open house, a video presentation walking through the details of the additions and renovations project for the Burlington High School was displayed. For those unable to view the presentation at the open house, the video is available on the BCSD website.

Bray Architects led an interior design finishes presentation on August 30 for the district's planning team. During the meeting, rendered interior images of the building were presented, and the planning team will discuss interior finish material selections.

WHAT'S NEXT?

The next phase of the project will be the construction documents phase, where the project team will further develop details, information, and specifications that will be used for the bidding and constructing of the project.
